

Quality of Education Policy in the Medical University of Warsaw

The Medical University of Warsaw provides the highest level of professional, medical education by producing graduates who:

1. possess knowledge, skills and social competence at a highest world-class level
2. act according to the highest ethical standards, strong civil engagement and feeling of responsibility for patient's health and life;
3. have the background answering the needs of the global employment market and contemporary challenges.

The whole academic community, including authorities, academic teachers and staff, administration and students of all levels and courses are responsible for the quality of education in the Medical University of Warsaw. We truly believe that high standards of quality of education are the outcome of our common dedication and hard work put into the development of the University's quality culture achieved mainly by:

1. quality-oriented activities and attitudes of all members of the academic community and the relations between them;
2. Quality of Education Management System i.e. clear, coherent and effective structures, processes and tools serving for the quality assurance, assessment and improvement that fully support both individual and institutional activities in this subject.

The abovementioned aim will be achieved through:

1. respect for and defense of fundamental academic values like truth, honesty, freedom and responsibility;
2. building honest, truthful and respectful relations among all the members of academic community;
3. improvement of the level of education including promoting and rewarding high standards of teaching;
4. promoting and active participation in initiatives that enhance the quality of education;
5. dissemination of good practice and knowledge exchange concerning quality of education;
6. engagement of the whole academic community and stakeholders in the creation of University's quality culture;
7. constant development of University's Quality of Education Management System
8. national and international cooperation with educational institutions in the field of quality of education
9. supporting the education processes by research and development

Medical University of Warsaw aims at being the lead medical university in Poland and internationally recognizable one. High quality culture standards will not only strengthen the potential and competitiveness of our University but also create perfect conditions for intellectual, personal and scientific development of all the students and academic staff.